

Courses & Careers

The Health Training Solutions initiative provides access to the Australian nationally recognised career and qualification framework for all health support employees, and jobseekers wishing to build a career in the health industry in a support role. Industry sectors include medical and specialist practices, allied health, public and private hospitals, aged care and a range of community settings.

The new courses framework, released in early 2007, provides a suite of accredited courses to support the current and future careers of health support workers, across all industry sectors in the following roles:

- Reception
- Administration
- Senior Administration
- Management
